To address this issue and ensure that CMHIS (EP) beneficiaries are not deprived of their entitled benefits, the following guidelines have been issued:

2. For government employees, if the treatment was undertaken before the deduction of Medical Allowance from the beneficiary, reimbursement for the cost of treatment will fall under the old MR scheme, regardless of whether the treatment was received at a hospital empanelled under CMHIS or the old MR scheme.

These reimbursements are subject to the following terms and conditions:

- a. The cost of treatment will be considered for reimbursement according to the approved CMHIS (EP) Health benefit Package rate or as recommended by the State Medical Board constituted under the Nagaland Health Protection Society (NHPS).
- b. Reimbursement will only be permissible for treatments undergone between November 1st, 2022, and December 31st, 2023.

ECI DIRECTS DISCLOSURE OF PUBLISHERS AND PRINTERS FOR TRACEABILITY AND ACCOUNTABILITY

Sending a strong message, the Election Commission of India today has directed all the States/UTs mandating the clear identification of printer and publisher on printed election-related material including hoardings, ensuring accountability and transparency in campaign communications. The decision was taken by the Commission consisting of Chief Election Commissioner Rajiv Kumar, and Election Commissioners Gyanesh Kumar and Dr. Sukhbir Singh Sandhu after representations were received in the Commission stating that in hoarding spaces controlled by Municipal authorities, hoardings without the identity of the printer or publisher have been noticed.

Section 127A of the Representation of the People Act, 1951, unequivocally prohibits the printing or publishing of election pamphlets, posters, placards, or banners without prominently displaying the name and address of the printer and publisher. It may be recalled that CEC Rajiv Kumar has highlighted addressing the issue of Misinformation as one of the challenges along with Money and Muscle power, for a level playing field. With this directive, the Commission now has put the accountability on printers, publishers, licensees/contractors of urban local bodies renting out outdoor advertising space for the political advertisements published on outdoor media. This is in continuation of the ECI recent advisory vide press note dated 02.04.2024 to editors of all newspapers to be cautious while publishing political advertisements in newspapers.

Attention of all stakeholders is also brought to the instructions issued by Municipal Corporation of Delhi (MCD) dated 03.04.2024 to all its licensees and contractors on political advertisements on Outdoor media of MCD. ## PUBLIC HEALTH DEPARTMENT ISSUES HEATWAVE ADVISORY

The Department of Health and Family Welfare (DoHFW) has issued a public health advisory regarding the on-going heat wave affecting several areas of the state. While actual temperatures may not be extremely high, the DoHFW warns that deviations from normal temperatures could have adverse effects, particularly on vulnerable populations.

To help protect the general public, the DoHFW has provided guidelines which include several do's and don'ts:

It is advised to drink plenty of water, even if not feeling thirsty, and carry water while traveling. Homemade drinks such as lemon water, buttermilk, and fruit juices with added salt are also recommended. Eating fruits and vegetables with high water content, like watermelon and cucumber, is encouraged.

Additionally, individuals are advised to stay covered by wearing loose, light-colored cotton clothing, using umbrellas or hats, and wearing shoes when going out in the sun. It is important to stay alert to local weather news through radios, TVs, newspapers, and the India Meteorological Department (IMD) website for weather updates at <https://mausam.imd.gov.in/>

To minimize heat exposure, individuals are advised to stay indoors or in shaded areas as much as possible. Keeping windows and curtains closed during the day and opening them at night to let cooler air in can also help. If outdoor activities are necessary, it is recommended to schedule them during cooler times of the day, such as mornings and evenings.

For vulnerable populations, including infants, young children, pregnant women, and individuals with pre-existing health conditions, additional attention is necessary. Such groups should be supervised and monitored daily. Elderly or sick people living alone should have their health closely monitored. Immersing feet in cool water, using fans and spray bottles, and applying damp cloths or ice towels are effective ways to cool down the body.

Several precautions should also be taken by employers and workers. Providing cool drinking water and shaded work areas, scheduling strenuous jobs during cooler times of the day, and increasing the frequency and length of rest breaks are recommended. Employers should ensure that workers are properly acclimatized and trained to recognize heat-related illness symptoms. Pregnant workers and those with medical conditions should consult with their physicians about working in hot conditions.

Lastly, during mass gatherings or sports events, attendees should be aware of the increased risk of heat-related illnesses due to physical exertion, direct sun exposure, overcrowding, and limited access to water, food and shade. They are advised to stay hydrated, cool, and seek medical care if experiencing any signs or symptoms of heat-related illness.

The DoHFW emphasizes the importance of following these guidelines to prevent the adverse effects of the on-going heatwave and ensure the well-being of the general public, especially the vulnerable groups.

GOVERNOR GRACES INAUGURAL PROGRAM OF STATE LEVEL WORKSHOP ON POCSO & NDPS ACT

Jointly organised by High Court Legal Services Committee, Kohima in collaboration with Dept. of Law & Justice, Dept. of H&FW and Nagaland Police a State Level Workshop on POCSO ACT & NDPS Act was held on 27th April, 2024 at Rhododendron Hall, Police Complex, Chumoukedima.

Governor, La Ganesan, in his inaugural address, stated that Nagaland is not immune to the complexities and intricacies of the criminal justice landscape. We face unique challenges that demand our attention and concerted efforts to overcome. The Protection of Children from Sexual Offences Act, 2012, stands as a beacon of hope in our quest to shield our children from the trauma of sexual abuse and exploitation. However, he said the effective implementation and enforcement of this legislation are hindered by a myriad of challenges. Similarly, the scourge of drug abuse and trafficking continues to ravage our communities, posing a grave threat to public health and safety, especially that of our youth. The Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances Act, 1985 aims to fight drug abuse and trafficking but it is imperative that we confront the local obstacles that impede its efficacy, he said.

He also mentioned that among the challenges facing our criminal justice system are the geographical constraints that hinder access to remote areas, the scarcity of resources and infrastructure, and the cultural nuances that influence perceptions of crime and justice. Additionally, the prevalence of traditional dispute resolution mechanisms and the stigma surrounding certain crimes often deter victims from seeking recourse through formal legal channels. It is incumbent upon us to acknowledge these challenges and work collaboratively to address them and prioritize the training, capacity-building of our law enforcement personnel, judiciary, and medical professionals to ensure a more effective response to cases of child sexual abuse and drug-related offenses. Moreover, we must also engage with local communities to raise awareness, dispel myths, and foster trust in the formal justice system, he said.

Furthermore, he stressed on must have leverage technology and innovation to overcome the geographical barriers and streamline processes for accessing justice. Likewise, ICT enablement of courts, remote video conferencing, telemedicine, and online reporting mechanisms are just a few examples of how we can harness technology to enhance the efficiency and accessibility of our justice system, he said.

In conclusion, he urged all to remember that the true measure of success lies not only in the laws enacted or the cases prosecuted but in the lives we touch and the futures we safeguard. He encouraged all to strive, be beacons of hope, champions of justice, and guardians of our children's dreams. By doing so, we can make meaningful progress in strengthening Nagaland's criminal justice system by working together in shaping a brighter, safer, and more inclusive future for Nagaland.

Director General of Police, Rupin Sharma, IPS in his address stated that POCSO & NDPS cases are a matter of concern for all of us and stressed upon on stigmatization of the victims, a victim cannot be seen as an outcast in the society, we all need to give respect to the victims and this can only be changed if the mind-set of the society changes. He said there is a need to put the system into place, where people can encourage to report and not stigmatize them and maintain a degree of secrecy not just of victims but also of the family and other witnesses. He urged the officers to take due care and investigate details of these cases so that desired results are achieved.

He also informed that in Nagaland police, we have unarmed police centric state with 15 battalions of 16000 people in the battalions and around 50% of the components of the district executive force is armed police where 70% of the Nagaland Police is involved in law and order duties and not investigation purposes. We need to change, reinvent so better professionalism and better investigation will come into Nagaland police. The only way Nagaland police will be able to establish supremacy of law in the State and enhance trust & image in the minds of the public is through better investigation, he added.

Furthermore, referring to the increasing trend in Drugs, he urged the officers that these cases are to be dealt very carefully as they directly affect the health of our society and directed them to make utmost use of this workshop and see where they lack and identify the inadequacies and plug the loopholes to fill these gaps.

Highlights of the program included two working session focussing on the topics- On protection of Children from Sexual Offences (POCSO) Act, 2012 and Narcotic Drugs & Psychotropic Substances (NDPS) Act, 1985.
